

GREEN & PLEASANT

BROOK
HOUSE

In the town of Burton-on-Trent, Mr & Mrs Murphy's impressive and striking detached home sits within a conservation area.

"The windows and doors that were in the house were original, single glazed and needed a lot of maintenance. The heat loss from draughts was extensive."

It's conservation status meant that there were criteria to comply with, "the quality and finish of the windows was important, hence we looked for a reputable company."

"We found Timber Windows online, and I could see the type of houses you'd previously worked on, as my house had a vast range of sizes and styles so I needed to be satisfied that this could be dealt with. The recommendations from previous customers was important.

A number of sash windows, flush casements and French doors were all specified in 'White' with a range of astragal bar styles and sizes to suit the setting and original specifications.

"I was put in touch with Timber Windows of Sheffield, who were excellent from start to finish."

The front door is a beautiful Chadlington design with bespoke arched astragal bars, finished in a classic and elegant green shade known as 'Fortnum' combined with a 'White' frame and set off with black ironmongery. The rear entrance door is the Rawlinson design in a colourway to match the front door.

"The final finish of the windows and doors is very special, including all the bespoke carpentry around them. Noise reduction is significant, and heat loss has been hugely reduced. They look superb!"
